

Parent/Guardian Perspective: Step 3

Step 3: Parent/Guardian Perspective

Your perspective and involvement in preparing your student for the program play a vital role in their success. We value your insight and collaboration in helping us create a positive, supportive experience for your child.

To be completed by the Parent/Guardian.

3.1. How does your child typically communicate when something is wrong or they need help?

We have full view to Maddie's glucose levels through remote monitoring over wifi so often times she doesn't need to reach out because we can see if she is trending low and then corrects. If she does need our help we have a group text that either we will reach out to confirm she is feeling okay or she will reach out with a question.

3.2 What supports, strategies, or environments help your child feel safe, confident, and successful?

Maddie thrives in environments where she can be independent and responsible for her own care. Simply allowing access to her phone and snacks ensures she can fully manage her diabetes without disruption. She likes to be treated like everyone else because she is able to do any activity or class just like her peers, she prefers to just be able to take a quick look at her phone for her numbers and then treat with glucose or a snack independently without it drawing too much attention.
