

10. Cell Phones

- Summer Springboard recognizes that mobile devices are an important communication and operational tool during the program. Responsible use of cell phones is necessary to maintain a safe, respectful, and focused learning environment for all participants.
- Students are expected to use mobile devices in ways that support program operations, academic engagement, and student supervision. Phone use must not interfere with instructional activities, program participation, or staff responsibilities.
- Students will be asked to silence or turn off their phones during academic sessions or other structured activities in order to support a focused learning environment.
- Electronic devices may not be used in an illegal, illicit, or offensive manner.
- Campus leadership and mentors are responsible for reinforcing the student cell phone expectations
- Violations may result in:
 - Staff temporarily collecting or restricting the use of the student's phone for the duration of the class or activity. Phones should be stored in a secure location (SSB office) and returned at the conclusion of the session.
 - Disciplinary action
