

Art of Investigation

Day 4: Cliques begin to form

Setting:

Day 4 (Wednesday). The program is in full swing. Students have started to settle into routines and social dynamics have begun to solidify.

What Happens

After night checks during the staff meeting, things start to get a little bit heated. As CD/AM, you've noticed that Sasha and Roman have been operating separately from the other mentors and on the flip side, you've noticed that the other mentors don't really seem to be getting along with Sasha and Roman.

During the meeting, Natalie tells the group that she feels as if Sasha and Roman are not enforcing the policies and expectations set for students. Other mentors join in on Natalie's side stating that it's not fair because then they look "bad" or unfair to the students. Sasha and Roman push back and say that "this is what worked last summer and nobody had a problem with it before."

Sasha and Roman then look to you (CD/AM) and state that you should listen to them because they've been on program and "know more" than you do being that it's only your first year as CD