

Information Gathering for IRs

Campus Directors can effectively use staff meeting time to gather information on students & staff who may require having an incident report submitted.

- Remember, we are all mandated reporters. Sharing there are suspicions about a student's well-being is required, if it falls into the categories of mandated reporting.
- Using staff meetings or huddles is a great way to find out if an incident should be reported. Make this a routine check in at every staff meeting.
- Using mentor groups as a space for students to safely share how students are feeling or if they want to report an activity they witnessed or experienced.
